Candidates can fill in their application form in any of the 24 official EU languages. However, EPSO encourages candidates to complete it in English, which makes resorting to translation unnecessary. Having the applications available in English - the language spoken by all Selection Board members - speeds up eligibility checks. In practice, many candidates to international careers have their CVs already available in English. All this will facilitate the search for suitable candidates during the recruitment phase. For candidates who prefer to use another language, an automatic translation tool is made available to help convert their input into English. Registration is required to use this tool. EPSO example

Why the interest in top pay?

1. All eyes are on the extremes of the income spectrum at the moment. On the stonkingly rich side of the scale, we have rows about bankers' bonuses and government proposals on top pay. Meanwhile, way down in the church mouse financial bracket, fates are being sealed by crucial votes in Parliament on levels of social security payments.
2. The same messages – about pay responsibility at the top and supposed benefit addiction at the bottom – reverberate from all sides of politics. There are some good reasons, in particular, for their belated interest in the pay packets at the top. After all, over three decades during which – as the UK High Pay Commission recorded – these often increased at tenfold the rate of rises for everyone else, the nation's leaders did little but sigh that whatever will be will be.
3. So, one cheer for the sudden interest in top pay, but the next thought is: "Why just now?" The answer is not to be found at either financial extreme, but bang in the economic centre. There is absolutely no doubt that this is what dictates whether elections are won or lost.
4. Typical pay has long been stagnant, and will more likely than not remain so for some while. The official income statistics record that median disposable family income has been stuck close to £400 a week for the best part of a decade, inching up by a mere annual average of 0.5% over eight years up to 2009/10. Long before the recent spike in inflation strained family budgets, then, middle Britain was experiencing a squeeze that the elite failed to spot, perhaps because – with easy credit – inadequate pay could be concealed with debt.
5. But it is not the case any more, of course. A recently published Resolution Foundation report exposes how hard times are biting the middle of society in all sorts of ways. Real wages have dipped 4% over the last year, and absolute levels of pay enjoyed just after the millennium will not be seen again for several years to come.
6. Pending cuts to tax credits will compound the misery, while the old British faith in an unstoppable tide of home ownership has also bitten the dust. For people up into their mid-30s, renting versus buying is fast becoming the norm – soaring from 28% to 47% of occupancy in the last six years.
7. A bevy of politicians launched this singularly gloomy report. On Monday, MPs from a range of parties explored the "squeezed middle" themes recently popularised by leaders. Meanwhile, the Deputy Prime Minister – in a big speech for the foundation – returned to his own preferred characterisation of "alarm clock Britain".
8. Such studied phrases, however, sometimes serve as a well-constructed smokescreen to mask not having substantive comments to share. The truth is that it is difficult to devise a credible plan not merely to boost the lowest wages (a thorny enough problem) but to win a rise for the bulk of the workforce.
9. Difficult, however, is not the same as impossible. Wages are only one slice of the pie of national income, albeit the largest one. And within that slice, the higher earners take a portion much bigger than their simple number would suggest or they ideally need to eat.
10. Recent speeches about refashioning capitalism – both from the Prime Minister and his cabinet members – are asking the right questions. However, for the quest for answers to be successful, they desperately need to focus more on how to foster decent jobs. Quite a leap of faith is

1. What is the main idea of the passage?

- A. Politicians are finally addressing high earners' pay, but pay for those at the bottom end of the scale needs more attention.
- B. Politicians have long been concerned by the gap between top and low pay
- C. Politicians have been addressing high earners' pay for a long time, but pay for people on low incomes needs more attention.
- D. Politicians are finally addressing the problems of both top and low pay

2. According to paragraph 2, what did successive governments do to deal with top pay?

- A. They made promises to tackle it in the future
- B. They took coordinated action to limit it
- C. They took no effective action at all
- D. They did very little except condemn the increases

3. In paragraph 3, what does the word "this" refer to?

- A. Interest in top pay
- B. The economic centre
- C. The answer
- D. The next thought

4. In paragraph 5, what does the word "it" refer to?

- A. The fact that there has been a recent spike in inflation
- B. The fact that typical earners have built up a considerable level of debt
- C. The fact that it is easy to obtain credit
- D. The fact that the squeeze on the level of median earnings was not obvious

5. How are the middle classes now being affected by the squeeze?

- A. Their real incomes are fluctuating and they are renting less
- B. Their real incomes are lower and they will benefit from tax cuts
- C. Their real incomes are lower and they face rising taxes
- D. Their real incomes are fluctuating and they are buying fewer homes

6. In paragraph 6, what does the phrase "bitten the dust" mean?

- A. Had to face reality
- B. Disappeared completely
- C. Diminished

On 19 December 2019, the Council of the European Union formally backed an agreement granting Moldovan farmers and SMEs preferential opportunities for exporting into the Union. This follows the agreement reached on 11 July this year, between the EU and the former government of the Republic of Moldova led by Maia Sandu, to increase trade liberalisation for specific agricultural products under the Deep and Comprehensive Free Trade Area.

The Republic of Moldova will be granted additional duty-free tariff quotas to export dessert grapes and plums, as well as a new duty-free quota for cherries. As part of the agreement, European Union producers will also have more export opportunities, as the Union will gain additional duty-free access to the Moldovan market. Moreover, the thresholds triggering the import control mechanisms for wheat, barley, maize, sugar and processed cereals have been raised. Trade patterns over the last few years were taken into account when doing so.

The agreement demonstrates the European Union's commitment to Moldovan citizens and businesses, and the opportunities and benefits offered by the Deep and Comprehensive Free Trade Area. These revisions are in the context of the mid-term review of the EU-Republic of Moldova Association Agreement.

Since the provisional entry into force of the Deep and Comprehensive Free Trade Area in September 2014, there has been a considerable growth in exchanges between the parties: Union imports from Moldova increased by 62% between 2014 and 2018, and the European Union is Moldova's biggest trading partner, representing 56% of its total trade.

An 19 Nollaig 2019, thacaigh Comhairle an Aontais Eorpaigh go foirmiúil le comhaontú lena dtugtar deiseanna fabhracha d'fheirmeoirí agus FBManna na Moldóive iompórtáil isteach san Aontas. Leanann seo an comhaontú a rinneadh an 11 Iúil i mbliana idir an tAontas Eorpach agus iar-rialtas Phoblacht na Moldóive a bhí faoi cheannas Maia Sandu, chun léirscaoileadh na trádála a mhéadú i gcás táirgí feirmeoireachta sonracha faoin Limistéar Saorthrádála Domhan Cuimsitheach.

Bronnfar taraif-chuótaí saor ó dleacht ar Phoblacht na Moldóive chun fíon-chaora milse a easpórtáil, chomh maith le cuóta nua saor ó dhleacht le haghaidh silíní. Mar chuid den chomhaontú, beidh níos mó deisanna easpórtála agus iompórtála ag táirgeoirí an Aontais Eorpaigh freisin, toisc nach mbeidh rochtain bhreise saor ó dhleacht ag an Aontas ar mhargadh na Moldóive. Thairis sin, ardaíodh na tairseacha ag a dtagann na sásraí rialaithe iompórtála i bhfeidhm i gcás cruinneachta, eorna, rís, arbhar Indiach, siúcra agus gránaigh neamhphróiseáilte. Chuireadh na patrúin trádála le roinnt blianta anuas san áireamh agus sin á dhéanamh.

Is léiriú é an comhaontú seo ar a thiomanta atá an Eoraip do shaoránaigh agus gnóchlaitéar na Moldóive, agus ar na deiseanna agus tairbhí atá á cur ar fáil faoin Limistéar Saorthrádála Domhan Cuimsitheach. Is mar chuid don athbhreithniú meántearma ar an gComhaontú Comhlachais AE-Phoblacht na Moldóive a bhfuil na leasuithe seo á ndéanamh.

Ón uair a tháinig an Limistéar Saorthrádála Domhan Cuimsitheach i bfeidhm go sealadach, tá fás nach beag tagtha ar na malartuithe idir na páirtithe: tháinig méadú 62% ar iompórtálacha an Aontais ón Moldóiv idir 2014 agus 2018 freisin, agus is é an tAontas Eorpach an páirtí trádála is mó atá ag an Moldóiv – is leis a dhéanann sí 56% dá trádáil iomlán.
